Nicholas--Shoemate.

Garfield, Nov. 12 (Special).—A wed ding, which came as a surprise to their friends, was that of Miss Ina Nicholas and Mr. Claude Shoemate, who were married in Louisville, Wednesday, Nov. 7, at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. John Nichols, in the presence of a few relatives.

The bridal couple was accompanied to Louisville by Mrs. Amos Wood, Owen Nichols, and Estelle Davis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. James Nichols and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Shoemate, of Custer.

Mr. and Mrs. Shoemate will make their home in Louisville.

In Hawesville. Lived Here At One Time. Gave Liberally To Charitable Organizations.

Mrs. Eliza Lander Webb, died at her home in Hawesville, Thursday evening at seven o'clock after an illness of only a few days of pneumonia.

The funeral service was conducted at the Methodist church at that city, on Friday afternoon after which remains were taken to Louisville, followed by interment in Cave Hill cemetery, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Webb had the distinction of being the first girl baby born in the city of Hawesville. She made her first appearance there on June, 20, 1832 and it was her home until she grew to womanhood. She was married to W. H. Webb in 1870 and with her husband settled in Cloverport where they lived seven years. Mr. Webb was a tobacconist and they moved from here to Louisville.

Mrs. Webb was a very philanthropic woman. She was the donor to several churches and colleges. Having donated $10,000 to the erection of one church she was the chief contributor to the building fund of the Lander Webb Memorial church, Louisville. She endowed the Rebecca Pugh Lander Hall in the Logan Female College at Russellville, Ky., with a $5,000 and invested $2,000 in scholarship for the education of poor Methodist minister's daughters. Only a few weeks ago Mrs. Webb had a very handsome memorial window placed in the Hawesville Methodist church in memory of her brother, the late Frank Lander. She also gave the church her beautiful summer home which is in that city.

Mrs. Webb was very charitable with the colored people. She gave $2,500 towards building a colored Methodist church at Clay, Ky., a small mining town in Webster county. And just before she died she paid off a $79 debt on Hawesville colored Methodist church.

She is now devoting her life to war relief work. She is one of the most industrious workers among the society women and nobility in London. She seems to be indefatigable, for every moment of her time is spent advantageously.

Mrs. Astor has won a place high in London's social sphere, and is much sought after nobility. Her daughter, Muriel, aids in the relief work.

It is reported that Mrs. Vincent Astor paid her mother-in-law a visit while on a short stay in London. Mrs. Vincent Astor is now in France aiding in the organization of a hospital behind the lines.

Every now and then a count breaks into the news with information that he is trying to win the hand of the charming Mrs. Astor. Many members of nobility have been disappointed suitors.

MAJOR BOARD AD- DRESSES K. M. A.

Rebukes Local Physicians For Not Giving Their Services To The National Army.

The following address was delivered by Major Milton Board of Camp Zachary Taylor at the first general session of the sixty-seventh annual meeting of the Kentucky Medical Association which convened in Louisville, 7-10.

The retiring president, Dr. Board, made his address brief, but it contained a rebuke to some of the local medical men, whose services, the speaker claimed, are needed in the army. He said in part:

"Modern warfare requires trained medical officers and as there were few in the regular service, enlistments were asked for to the number of approximately 25,000; Kentucky's part of this quota was about 500, and of this number about 60 per cent, have received commissions or applied for them. A goodly number of Kentucky doctors have accepted commissions and have been assigned to duty at great personal sacrifice, a large number of others, men of ability, men of means, men of little or no responsibility, have thus far withheld their service from a country so badly in need of same. I deeply regret this situation and the necessity for calling attention to it, but my friends, I have never been ambiguous, either by nature or from practice. I have learned to fight and I would not run true to form if I failed here and now officially and personally, to call attention to this situation. I have seen a distinguished professor from Chicago, a man approaching sixty years of age, of independent means, of large practice, in fact one of the most prominent specialists and teachers of America, exposing himself to a cold at Camp Taylor, day after day and week after week examining soldiers with diseased eyes and defective vision, perhaps the most important medical work to be in preparing the new army, but I have not seen any Louisville eye specialist out there. Yes, I have seen one whom we all love, past the meridian of life, in feeble health, not physically able to serve his country, and yet giving upon numerous occasions his encouragement and support. I refer to Dr. J. M. Ray.

"There are other prominent eye, ear and throat doctors there from Chicago, Michigan, Iowa and other points, but thus far Kentucky specialists in these lines have failed to show up at Camp Taylor. The chief operating surgeon out there is a Kentuckian, soon to succeed me in this chair; his two assistants are Kentuckians, as is the chief of head surgery. The head of the genito-urinary department is a Kentuckian. I am with my two assistants, one of them a Kentuckian, trying to look after the neuro-psychiatric department; but when a senior medical officer was needed at the base hospital the commanding officer was compelled to go again to Chicago to the Rush Medical College to get him because none of the distinguished internists of the city of Louisville had volunteered his service. My friend this war will not be over in a few months. We are not fighting Spain. We are to engage in the most titanic struggle in the history of this government, and I appeal to the medical men of Kentucky to measure up to the traditions of the Commonwealth and acquit themselves like men to the born slacker, my remarks will be offensive, I invite their criticism; but those who have not given due consideration to the situation, I hope not to offend but to arouse to a deep sense of their obligation."—Louisville Post.

America to Feed World.

Among the obligations now laid on farmers none is more inexorable than that to increase the supply of fats and meats. Grain supply abroad is merely a matter of shipping. If the ocean were free of menace we could not supply the required quantity of fats and meats. It means breeding and feeding. The opening of the seas would flood markets with grain. Only the persistence and skill of farm breeders of meat stocks will feed the starving world with the essentials of subsistence. It can not come in a day, in a year, but widespread determined, united effort must be immediately set in motion. The food administration has designated the International Live Stock Exposition a "food training camp." It is well named. The farmer can there study breeding and feeding. Never was it so wasteful to feed high priced grain to ill bred stock. Lessons of breed improvement, of grading up common stock, and of economical feeding can be learned at the "International" as in no other place the American farmer has heard the

THIS KENTUCKY WOMAN COMES OUT FOR TANLAC

Says It Helped Her Before She Had Taken More Than Half a Bottle.

Mrs. O. S. Horman, 127 West Chestnut street, Louisville, said she had been bothered with her stomach for more than a year before she started taking Tanlac.

"But I hadn't taken more than half a bottle of Tanlac until I saw that I was getting better," Mrs. Herman said.

"It used to be that everything I ate just felt like a heavy weight in my stomach. I bloated badly after eating."

"I was nervous, too, and didn't sleep very well. My rest was broken by bad dreams and I'd feel tired when I got up in the mornings. I read so much about Tanlac that I finally decided to try it. As I said, it helped me before I had taken half a bottle. I kept on, though, until I had taken three bottles and now I don't have a bit of trouble with my stomach like I used to. I can sleep soundly all night now, too, and don't feel tired in the mornings like I did before."

Tanlac proved to be alright in my case and I recommend it.

Tanlac is a vegetable tonic and it has been prepared especially to build up run down systems and improve the health of half sick men and women. Thousands have been helped by Tanlac. Why not you? Get Tanlac today at Wedding's Drug Store.

call of the nation, of the world. He will heed. The instinct for live stock embraces sympathy for humanity. The significance of the food administration's recognition of the International as an educational agency should sink deep into the mind of the farmer. It should bring him to Chicago the first week in December to study meat production.

"Somewhere" Was All He Knew

The geography lesson was about to begin, and the subject of it was France. Accordingly the teacher started off with the question: "Now in this present terrible war who is our principal ally?" "France" came the answer from a chorus of voices. "Quite right," said the teacher, beaming. "Now, can any of you give me the name of a town in France?" A small boy at the back of the class almost fell over in his eagerness to tell. "Somewhere," he said breathlessly.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

ARTHUR T. BEARD.

"With pride and hope in our country's future, and assurance of genuine co-operation with all," are words that burn with the true patriotic spirit in times like these. They are uttered at a time and by a young man who loves his country and his people, not as a partisan but as a patriot. He has shown it in all his life and just such a spirit has won the people of Breckenridge to his support and the large vote given him at the recent election. Arthur Beard is a man of character, high-toned principles and stands for the best interests of his county, his home, his people. He will prove true, and the people have made no mistake in electing him to the office of County Court Clerk of Breckenridge county.

Let us remember the little children and the soldier boys with presents and remember our friends with cards this Christmas. For you must admit that after all "the gift without the giver is naught," regardless of how great or how small the gift may be. So now since man has made printing such a wonderful art you can get the most exquisite Christmas cards with sentiments on them that are worth reading three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, and any of your most particular friends would be happy to get one. Now then we have samples of these cards and can get them for you either engraved or printed, and we assure you your order will have our personal attention. The only thing asked of you is—that you shop early and get your order in before the Christmas rush.

We can eat turkey for our Thanksgiving dinner with an easy conscience because we know that fowls can't be shipped across the waters. But just the turkey is not all, there is "stuffing," and that takes lots of wheat bread, since most people do not know how to use corn bread in making the dressing for any kind of fowl. If you have never tried it before try using either egg corn bread or the old-fashioned hoecake in with your wheat bread when you make your dressing. It is excellent, and not only that, we are saving the biscuits for the poor little helpless Belgians who are starving to death every day.

The Cloverport Light and Ice Company has increased the minimum rate for lights from fifty cents to one dollar. The company is paying twice the amount for slack coal this winter to what they paid last winter, so they are forced to raise the price in order to meet expenses. Only those who are in business for themselves realize what it takes to run a plant, and can understand why the price has to be raised not only for lights but for everything else.

In Germany, butter is selling at $3 per pound and sugar at 75c per pound. Aren't you glad you don't live there—for more reasons than one?

It might be supposed that one of the pleasures in being a war bride is a girl escapes having "Miss" on her tombstone.

ALLIGATOR FOUND IN SEWER

Employee of Pittsburgh Bureau of Highways and Sewers, Pulls Out 3-Foot Saurian.

Pittsburgh.—The North side has been famed for many things. Now it is the habitat of the alligator.

If you don't believe it, ask George Moul, a perfectly reliable employee of the Bureau of Highways and Sewers. He has the proof on exhibition at his home in Lockhart street. He got it yesterday when he was sent to fix a sewer in Royal street.

He had lifted the manhole and was prodding to remove the obstruction, when a strange face, with rather evil-looking eyes, bobbed in his range of vision.

After the first shock Moul grabbed the head and drew forth a 3-foot alligator. He got a rope and led it to his home and is trying to dope out how the Florida native got this far North.

Try a "Want Ad."

Deceived by a Cloud.

The instinct of animals is sometimes supposed to be more infallible than human reason, but a scientist's observations of the katydid rather contradict that opinion. The katydid, with its musical membranes, produces two distinct "songs," one peculiar to the night and familiar to everybody, the other a daytime tune, which is rather a rasp than a melody. According to the scientist mentioned, it is sometimes quite comical to hear the singers suddenly change their tune when a dark cloud obscures the sun, immediately resuming their daytime song when it has passed. This recalls the hens that go to roost during a solar eclipse.

FARM AND STOCK.

Five million gallons of sugar cane syrup will be produced this year in the State of Louisiana. The syrup will be sold for about 40 cents a gallon.

Vic Robertson sold C. L. Pemberton 16 head of mules last Friday at $125 to $20 per head.

Thomas Bland is building a new dwelling on his farm near McQuady. It is a two story four room house with porch in front and kitchen in back. Crit Seaton & Sons are doing the work. The Fordsville Planing Mill Co. furnished the finishings. The Seaton's painted Eli Dean's residence on his farm near Glen Dean. It is now one of the hand-somest homes in that section.

Jake Lymer is now one of the prosperous and substantial farmers around Glen Dean. He moved to Glen Dean twenty years ago without a dollar. He got a job on the railroad as section man at $1.10 per day. By economy and hard work he saved enough to buy a farm in the woods on the installment plan. Now he has a good home, stock barn and other outbuildings. This year he has a good crop; 12,000 pounds bright one sucker tobacco, 1,000 bushels corn to sell, is feeding 28 head of hogs and has a good black mare mule for sale. Mr. Lymer says this year's crop will practically put him out of debt.

John B. Bates sold his house and 55 acres of ground at McQuady to Rev. J. F. Knue for $3,500.

Owen Seaton sold his crop of 4,000 pounds of one sucker to J. M. Howard at $13 round.

Payne & Sons, of Tar Fork, turned down an offer of $15 round for their crop of 30,000 pounds of one sucker tobacco. Barney DeJarnette refused the same price for his crop of 25,000 pounds.

W. R. Moorman & Son recently purchased 27 Short Horn cattle from parties near Danville, Ky. They sold to W. T. Montgomery, of San Antonio, Tex., two Polled Durham heifers; to J. W. Ford, of Alabama, one Polled Durham bull; to Tiff Farms, Tifton, Ga., two Short Horn bulls, and to H. L. Drake two Short Horns.

Begin to prepare your home garden now by supplying the soil with humus and fertilizer. Stable manure may be spread upon the surface and either plowed or spaded under. Rye is good to sow to be plowed or spaded under in the spring. Use about half a pound to one pound of seed to the square rod.

The advantages of sowing rye are: (1) it protects the soil from washing; (2) it retains nitrogenous plant food material which might otherwise escape into the air during the fall and winter; (3) when turned under in the spring it furnishes humus to the soil.

Save the leaves as they are valuable as sources of humus and plant food. If burned, even though the ashes are saved, all of the humus is lost and much of the fertilizing value. Coal ashes are useful for the same purpose, though they have very little fertilizing value.

R. G. Robertson & Sons have baled about 100 tons of hay and stored in their barns for feeding during the winter. This is a wise plan. It saves time and preserves the hay, and it is ready for shipping if not needed for feeding.

Jim Dean has one hundred acres of shoddy fodder which he is now shredding and storing in his barn for winter feeding. He also has a hundred acre field which he will turn stock on. Mr. Dean is a big feeder of cattle and hogs.

Ample provision for the sheltering and feeding of live stock for the winter should be made. All surplus male stock and other undesirable animals should be sold. It is very desirable, however, that female live stock at all suitable for breeding purposes should be kept for increasing the herds.

Fisher Moorman and Charlie Dean have a fine bunch of sheep, the best we have seen in the county. They will be worth their weight in gold next spring. More farmers ought to turn their attention to raising sheep. They will add to their income as well as increase the food and wool supply of the country.

Jim Dean picked us up Saturday at McQuady and took us to his beautiful home, near Glen Dean, for dinner. It is the old home place of his father, Eli Dean, who lives with him, and has turned over the management of the farm to Jimmie and his wife. Eli has a beautiful room, nicely furnished, comfortable and cozy, where he comes and goes and has a good easy time. No care and nothing to do but to read the papers and enjoy life. Mrs. Dean is a fine housekeeper, a good cook and serves a splendid meal. There has recently come into his home a beautiful baby girl which is the joy of the household. We certainly enjoyed our visit to this happy family.

Jimmie is not only a good farmer but a good provider. He has stored up for winter Irish and sweet potatoes, cabbage, turnips and carrots. These are buried in the garden in the old-fashioned way. A fine row of celery and a big bed of turnip greens, horse radish and other things that will come in for winter supplies. This is what we call an ideal life on the farm.

Seven hogsheads of new Burley sold on the Louisville market last week brought $16.50 to $26.50.

In the National egg laying contest at the Kentucky Experiment Station which closed last Wednesday, the Golden Rod Egg Farm, Hardinsburg, Percy Beard, owner, was awarded the fourth prize with a record of 1,028 eggs for 52 weeks. The highest producing pen of 5 pullets was owned by Clarence Freeman, of Cadiz, Ky., with a record of 1,078 eggs. Dr. R. Lindsey Ireland, of Louisville, owned the second pen with a record of 1,065 eggs. Thos. J. Price, of Roger-ville, Tenn., the third pen with a record of 1,056 eggs. The Golden Rod is right up with the best and Mr. Beard is to be congratulated. These pens were all White Leghorns.

Cal Thurman, who lives a few miles out from Cloverport, has an eighty acre farm all under cultivation. This year he had twenty acres planted in corn which yielded sixty bushels to the acre, and eighteen acres in Burley tobacco that made 3,000 pounds, and the other is in meadow. The remarkable part about Mr. Thurman's farming is he does all the work by himself. During the summer he hired help three days. He works so hard that he does not have time to complain, and he is perfectly satisfied with the prices.

Mrs. Thos. Donoghue has sold this year $254 worth of chickens and eggs, the product of 60 Plymouth Rock hens.

J. T. Sermon, Hardinsburg No. 1, has 12,000 pounds of bright one sucker tobacco, 10 shoths, Duroc and Poland China, and 1,200 bushels of corn all for sale.

Julius Jackson & Sons have 15,000 pounds of mountain Burley, a very fine type of tobacco.

Israel Holder and Marion McGavock shipped from this city Monday a car load of cattle and hogs.

Hardin Kinder sold Israel Holder a cow and calf for $85. Steve Wilson one for $50.

The Food Administration Board has advised poultry dealers not to buy turkey hens under 8 pounds and toms under 12 pounds.

"Gip," Mrs. W. O. Bailey's family buggy mare, died last week. She was 31 years old and Mrs. Bailey is very much grieved over her death. She was her mainstay and dependence, safe, sure and always ready and willing. Truly, it is a great loss to Mrs. Bailey.

VANITY CASES FOR NURSES

Red Cross Lassies Going to France May Beautify Themselves to Heart's Content.

New York.—Red Cross nurses going to France to do their bit, as arduous as the soldier in the trenches, are not being forgotten in the distribution of "small bundles of comfort." The army and navy field comfort committee is planning 10,000 special "vanity" cases for the nurses who will serve with the American troops. The articles which will be contained in the cases are:

One bottle toilet water.
One cake toilet soap.
One box talcum powder.
One tube dental paste.
One tube toilet cream.
One vanity box with mirror, etc.

Though the retail value of the cases would almost double the amount, the nurses' boxes are packed at a cost of one dollar.

German Coal Shortage.

Amsterdam.—The coal famine is increasing from week to week throughout Germany. Although a large number of miners have been brought back from the front and thousands of war prisoners are employed in the pits, even the ammunition factories cannot get sufficient fuel. The use of electric power and gas has been reduced 20 per cent everywhere, but this measure fails to bring relief. Many cities have been compelled to prohibit cooking and heating with gas, and large numbers of towns had to shut down their lighting plants. The manufacturers of war materials have warned the government that they will not be able to fill their contracts if the present conditions continue.

See, Honesty Does Pay.
Parkersburg, W. Va.—Theodore Van Kirk found a package containing $5,000 in the street near his home. On investigation he learned that the package had dropped from an express wagon and belonged to a man in Baltimore. When he took the money bundle to the express office he was rewarded with 25 cents for his honesty.

A real Thanksgiving

Million Letters In the Mails Today Bearing Magic Words "With the Colors"

Keynote of the Splendid Work the Y.M.C.A. Does Among Our Men In Uniform Is Keeping Them In Touch With the Folks at Home.

STAMPED WITH STARS AND STRIPES AND RED TRIANGLE

Multifarious Ways in Which the Association Appeals to Your Boy, Your Neighbor's Boy, or Some Boy You Know and Love—Creates a Helpful Environment in Cantonment, on Way Overseas, in Front Line Trench and Beyond—First to Aid as He Comes Tottering Back—Give Your Share of the $35,000,000 Required to Accomplish This "Last Evidence That Somebody Cares."

Twas evening on the broad Hempstead Plain, Long Island, where the Rainbow division was spending its last night before embarking for France. It had been raining hard in the afternoon—a cold, steady autumn downpour—and there was nothing to suggest the rainbow in the outward aspect of the camp. Lines and lines of sodden canvas housed 27,000 men, gathered from 27 different states. The ground was dotted with pools and quagmires. Under the wet canvas it was damp and cold, with a penetrating chill. Lit by flickering candles, the tents were far from cheerful shelter for a man's last night in his native land.

But there were seven big tents where electric lights, numbers and friendliness made the night pleasant. There transfer more love from one least is on its way to you. Each one of our 16 cantonments, where the new national army is being trained, is using more than a million sheets of this paper every month. In the draft army alone that means 16,000,000 filaments of love every month reaching out from the great encampment where the men are being trained into the greatest army this nation has ever dreamed and binding them to the hearts at home. Multiply that by thinking of all the other places where Uncle Sam has men with the flag—in navy yards, on the high seas, in arsenals and officers' training camps and "Over There" in France. In all these places men are writing home. Those unassuming little sheets of notepaper gladden millions of hearts a day. They transfer more love from one

Music, Games, Good Reading and Correspondence Facilities in Y. M. C. A. Building.

In each of these a soldier was strumming on a piano; others were reading books and magazines; hundreds were writing letters home. Behind the raised counter at one end three or four young men were busy passing out notepaper and envelopes, selling stamps and weighing parcels, which the men were sending home. One of the soldiers said to me as I stood in the tent used chiefly by men from Iowa: "We came all the way here from Des Moines, and we were mighty lonely. Then we found this Y. M. C. A. on the job, and it's been a home and more than a home to us. It gave us what we wanted when we needed it most. We'll never forget it. The boys' best friend is the Y. M. C. A."

Fine, Clean-Cut, Upstanding Fellows.

How close those benches were packed with men, bending over the long tables absorbed in their writing! What an appeal to the sympathies those great groups of soldiers make! Fine, clean-cut, upstanding fellows, some of them mere boys, one thinks immediately of the sacrifice they have made for the rest of us and how precious they are to some one back home. Somewhere, in far off farm or village or city street, there are parents or brothers or wives who would give all they possess for one glimpse of those sunburned faces as you and I see them on their last night before going across. And it was with a thrill of the heart that I watched them, bent over their letter paper, in one after another of those seven big tents.

These were the tents of the Y. M. C. A. On that last night in America the association was serving the soldiers in the best of all ways—giving them an opportunity to write home. On previous nights they had enjoyed boxing bouts, movies, concerts, dramatics and a score of healthy entertainments as well as religious meetings. But on this last night home ties were strongest. And perhaps that is the keynote of the splendid work the Y. M. C. A. is doing among our men in uniform—keeping them in touch with home.

Magic Words, "With the Colors."

In these times there are some letters that mean more to us than any we have ever read before. They are written on sheets of paper stamped with the Stars and Stripes and the red triangle of the Y. M. C. A., and they bear the magic words, "With the Colors." There are many more than a million such letters in the mails now while you read this. Perhaps one at forego coveted possessions or even necessities. The work must go on, because there is no one thing that contributes so much to the spirit and efficiency of the troops. The Y. M. C. A. is working night and day to help the government win this war. And every penny that is given to aid the work is a direct assistance to the health, happiness and strength of your boy and mine.

Snapshots of Kaleidoscopic Work.

In all the big cities in France where men pass through in large numbers, the Y. M. C. A. is operating hostels, where they can get beds and meals at a minimum cost. In London the American Y. M. C. A. has erected a large building for our soldiers and a clubhouse for American officers.

There are Y. M. C. A. dugouts right behind the front line trenches, where the soldiers can get hot drinks, crackers and other comforts at all hours.

Over 2,000 men who had been rejected on account of physical disability have been able to get into the British army by reason of the physical work of the British Y. M. C. A.

A fleet of motor cars leaves the big Y. M. C. A. headquarters in London at midnight every night to pick up soldiers who are wandering about the streets without any wholesome lodging in which to spend the night. These cars are operated by Englishwomen of position and refinement, who report that they never meet any discourtesy at the hands of the soldiers. The importance of this service can be estimated by the fact that at least 50,000 soldiers are on leave in London every week. Over half of these sleep in Y. M. C. A. beds every night.

Entertainment on Vast Scale.

The Y. M. C. A. has erected a big auditorium, seating 3,000, in each of the big draft camps, and huge chalet-like tents, seating 2,500 in the other encampments. The association is running a 22 week entertainment circuit among the camps and is paying 16 companies of entertainers, who are traveling to 30 camps performing before the men.

In each of the draft camps the Y. M. C. A. has ten secretaries engaged in educational work. The association is seeing to it that every man who cannot speak English is taught to do so. In many of the camps the association has a singing director, who is teaching the men to sing the popular and martial airs that do so much to keep up their spirits.

Of 64 Y. M. C. A. men at Camp Dix only three are being paid full salaries. In all the camps the majority of the Y. M. C. A. men have left temporary positions to do this work simply because its appeal is irresistible to any red-blooded man. Harry Lauder, the famous Scotch singer and comedian, now on his farewell concert tour in the United States, is giving all his spare time to the service of the association and is singing to the soldiers at all the camps he can reach.

In one of the draft camps the Y. M. C. A. is supervising athletics on 120 playing fields, providing full athletic equipment. The winners of the inter-regimental games will play the champions of the other camps.

One of the greatest services rendered by the association is the making out of money orders by which the men can send their pay home to their families. In some of the big camps the Y. M. C. A. is providing banking facilities for the men as well.

Do Your Bit With a Tenner.

This month (November) the Y. M. C. A. must raise $35,000,000 to carry on its work among our soldiers and their allies until next July. Of this $35,000,000 about $24,000,000 will be spent on the work with our own troops or about $10 for every man in Uncle Sam's uniform. If everybody who has received letters from soldiers and sailors were to contribute $10 the task would be easy. Are your boy's health and happiness and clean soul worth $10 to you?

Your town mayor, your pastor, your school superintendent will know who is the treasurer of the campaign committee in your county or town. Otherwise send check or money order to Cleveland H. Dodge, treasurer, 124 East Twenty-eighth street, New York city.

Only sacrificial giving by millions of givers will make possible the continuance of this vast work for American soldiers and for those of our allies.

NEW WAR PLANES TO CARRY 19 MEN

Britain Sends Us Plans for Giants of Air to Be Built Here.

WILL PARALYZE THE ENEMY

Great Number of These Craft to Make Impossible Re-enforcement of German Lines—Engines Very Powerful.

London.—American airplane manufacturers are in possession of working models and blueprints of aero motors developed by England and France during three years of warfare. The United States airplane factories have received gratis the secrets of new alloys and improvements in construction which previous to America's entry into the war could not be bought at any price—secrets that were guarded with men's lives and were never mentioned beyond the doors of certain offices. Personal messengers have left England by every departing steamer; mail bags have been filled with priceless blueprints and cable lines have been jammed with messages, all bearing on the development of the American air squadron.

The governments of France and Great Britain know that upon the efforts made on the other side of the Atlantic within the next six months depends the fate of the armies afield. Important above everything else in the struggle for victory is the airplane, which must be produced in myriads, and the task now falls squarely to Uncle Sam.

Doubters Are in Minority.

There are doubting Thomases on this side of the water who sneer at the grandiose statements coming from New York and Washington and who assert that even if the United States organizes for the aerial construction program the product will be so inferior that it will be useless for actual fighting. Fortunately these doubters are in the minority. Officials and men in a position to know what already has been done are highly optimistic. They believe that American methods applied to the manufacture of air craft will result in just as good a product as is now coming from factories organized here shortly after the war started.

Despite all the lurid prophecies regarding the great fleet of airplanes that eventually will lay waste the principal German cities, the experienced airmen on this side only hope for thousands of machines with which to fight the German airmen in the field.

The success which America's efforts are to insure will come only when the allied armies in France have sufficient airplanes to retain mastery of the air and to patrol every mile of the territory immediately behind the German lines. When the day finally arrives, Germany will not be able to move a train back of the lines and to move reserves will be impossible. She will be unable to feed the men who are in the first lines. Her heavy artillery will be silenced and in the end her entire fighting forces made useless. The way will then become one of movement, with the chances for victory altogether on the side of the allies.

There are various types of airplanes which will be manufactured in America that are already being used in France. Engines of unbelievable power are being put into the newest type of plane. The average American is more or less familiar with automobile engines and has some idea of what weight of engine will develop 100 horsepower. If this average American were to look at some of the newest air motors he probably would judge them to be ten or 15-horsepower. In fact, he could lift some of the engines unaided and would probably be astounded to learn that such a machine was capable of developing not 100, but 150-horsepower.

Every newspaper reader in the United States has been well informed of the plans for building airplanes, but it is doubtful if one in a thousand can picture the size of some of the planes that eventually will be loaded on transports at the Atlantic piers. The correspondent has had an opportunity in the last few weeks of inspecting the newest type of aircraft; the type that will be turned out in vast numbers by America, and it is bigger in every way and more powerful than laymen imagine.

To begin with, the body of the new machine resembles in many ways a big motor launch. Its under part is rounded and beautifully constructed of finely grained wood. It is so big that to enter it one must clamber up a ladder and go down through a hatchway as big as the cabin door of a motor yacht. It is of the biplane type and from tip to tip of each wing there is room enough for a dozen men to lie out full length. Its two motors will develop 600 horsepower and their combined weight is so little compared to the power that the actual figures would look untruthful in print. Where the old types could carry hundredweights, this machine carries tons.

Can Carry Nineteen Men.

This new plane is manned by a pilot, two or three observers, a forward gunner, a bomb-dropper, a mechanic and, if necessary, a dozen passengers. It has an electrical-lighted passageway leading from one compartment to another. The flooring of one compartment is a strongly constructed grating through which the occupants can view the earth below. The sides of two of the compartments are built to open and afford a view of the surrounding clouds, or, in case of combat, of the enemy planes. When the Leviathan motors are started their roar is awe-inspiring, and the wind from the propellers sends backward a blast in front of which a strong man would find difficulty in remaining erect.

This is a picture which must be impressed upon the public mind if the great mass of the people is to realize what the United States is going to do. The task set for the American workers is not that of turning out light, hurriedly built, scouting machines to the number of tens of thousands, but to construct carefully with the last degree of ingenuity the highly developed war craft needed in modern battles. That is what England expects of her newest ally and what she has striven valiantly to teach authorities across the Atlantic. The vast technical detail developed by continuous fighting in the air has been turned over entirely so that the United States begins the work with the most favorable chances of success.

The invention of some new fighting machine after the manner of the tank is what all Europe expects of America, and they expect to see the new machines, airplanes or walking seaplanes or flying torpedo boats come to France fully manned, nicknamed and prepared to throw new terrors into the heart of an enemy who invented terrorism.—New York Sun.

UNCLE SAM AT PEACE TABLE

This Government Will Be in Position to Dictate Terms When Time for Negotiation Comes.

Washington.—President Wilson's reply to Pope Benedict's peace proposal has temporarily halted the widespread demand for a definite statement of the war aims of the United States.

"The purposes of the United States in this war are known to the whole world—to every people to whom the truth has been permitted to come," the president said in his reply to the pope. "They do not need to be stated again."

In his Flag day address the president said the reasons for America's entrance into the war must be apparent to every thinking man. Still, there is confusion in the minds of many Americans. The attempt of the committee on public information to clear up this confusion with its pamphlet, "How the War Came to America," was only partly successful.

"I shall not discuss here how America came into this war," Secretary of War Baker told the Fort Myer reserve officers on the day of their graduation. "That issue is settled for the American people. Our task now is to plan for victory."

In these words Secretary Baker summed up the attitude of all Washington officials. There are others, however, who believe the reasons for America's entrance into the war have a very important bearing on peace and on the future history of the world.

Just as there were underlying causes of the European conflict that never have been mentioned in the official documents, so there were causes for America's entrance into the war that were slighted in the president's address.

One of these causes is generally believed to have been that France was "bled white" and that the allies were in danger of defeat. Many Americans find the best justification for America's entering into the conflict in the statement that "we went in to save France."

This notion was given a severe jolt when Andre Tardieu, the French purchasing commissioner in the United States, made public his letter to Secretary Baker giving statistics on the present military strength of the French republic. With facts and figures supplied by the French war office, Tardieu disproved the theory that France was "bled white."

One of the highest officials of the United States government said it was not true that the allies were in danger of defeat just before America entered the war. France and England both could have held out for years and it was very doubtful, he said, that the German war machine could ever have achieved a military decision over the allies.

The United States, the president believed, would be in no position to assert its views at the peace conference if it remained a neutral. It was the avowed intention of leaving matters such as disarmament and an international organization to prevent future wars to a congress that would follow the peace conference.

The president believed that guarantees for the future would be the only results that would make the three years of fighting worth while, and that they should be made an integral part of the peace treaties. By the entrance of the United States, President Wilson became the world leader. It was made certain that by the aid rendered the allies the United States would be in a position to dominate the peace conference and to force that convention to accept its views.

Thus it would seem to be established that the real underlying cause for America's entrance into the war was not to succor an alliance in danger of defeat, but to insure and to dictate if necessary a just and lasting peace. There is reason to believe that the allies will be forced to accept terms of peace that they never would have considered but for the influence of the United States. And by the same token there is ground for hoping that through the United States the world will, in fact, be "made safe for democracy."

DAIRYING AND LIVE STOCK

FEWER DAIRY COWS.

Slaughter of Veal Calves Has Depicted Number of Cattle.

Anybody can see through a hole in the wall. It ought not to be necessary to bring any argument to prove that when we sell a calf for veal that puts an end to all hope of its ever growing into a cow, writes E. L. Vincent in the Iowa Homestead. The calf that is made into meat is a dead calf. No cow from that source. On the other hand, a calf saved and raised will in due time become a member of the dairy herd.

What is the effect of this wholesale killing of calves for veal in this country? A single sentence will answer that question in great part. Soaring prices for boots and shoes, harnesses, chairs with leather bottoms, seats for automobiles, belts of leather—in fact, for everything into which the construction of leather enters. Milk is every day climbing up in price to the consumer, butter and cheese are following, meats of all kinds are practically prohibitive, and, finally, people are suffering more than we know from lack of wholesome dairy products, and all because of the disposition to slaughter the calves and sell the good cows.

In the United States there are 6,000,000 fewer cows now than we had fifteen years ago, and the dearth is all the time increasing. What is going to be the outcome of all this? More suffering, more poor health on the part of old folks and little children and, finally, less money for dairy farmers, for we are ruining our own source of revenue.

Only one sort of a calf ever should be slaughtered as long as the present stringency lasts, and that is the calf that has no promise in him when he comes to the age of maturity. Even bull calves should be saved until the country's need of good sires has been supplied. Inferior bull calves might be disposed of, but the choice ones ought to be kept. There is good money in growing really desirable male calves for dairy purposes. By advertising a little it is always possible to sell any surplus stock we may have.

RAPE FOR PASTURE.

Furnished an Excellent Forage For Cattle, Sheep and Hogs.

As a pasture crop for sheep, hogs and cattle rape is of considerable value. It is greatly relished and produces rapid gains both in growing and fattening stock, writes a correspondent of the Iowa Homestead. The crop may be pastured at various stages of its development. When eaten down before it has made a maximum growth it will grow up again with more or less vigor. But in any event it is best not to begin pasturing until it has made a growth of several inches. Whether more food is obtained by this method than by allowing the rape to attain its full growth before turning stock on to it is not easy to say. As a rule, however, the latter plan is the most profitable to follow when sheep graze upon it, as it is quite possible for sheep to eat it down so low as to injure its capacity for further growth.

When cattle are pastured on rape they waste more by trampling than do sheep or hogs. Usually dairy cows ought not to be pastured on rape, as it has a tendency to taint the milk, but it may be cut and fed to them after each period of milking. On the whole, sheep do better on rape than do either hogs or cattle. Neither sheep nor cattle should be turned on rape when they are very hungry or when the crop is wet with dew or rain, as they may eat more of it than they should, become bloated and die in a short time if not looked after.

Animals that have not been accustomed to rape pasture may not take to it at first, but they soon learn to like it, and once they acquire a taste for it they will thrive on it and never tire of it. It is beneficial when the animals are pasturing on rape to give them access to a grass pasture. The grass and rape will keep them in first class condition. Oats fed once a day to sheep at the rate of one-half pound per head will have the same effect as the grass and help to put on fat, but it is not necessary to feed grain to most stock pasturing on rape, for a good growth of rape usually proves sufficient to fatten them.

While pasturing on rape stock should have free access to salt and also plenty of fresh water.

Take Care of the Brood Mare.

Don't make a slave of the brood mare. This is the suggestion of Dr. C. W. McCampbell, associate professor of animal husbandry in the Kansas State Agricultural college. Care should be taken to prevent overworking and overheating. The farmer should not allow his desire for immediate gain to overcome his judgment and sacrifice a good colt crop next spring to save a few bushels of grain. Hard work is one of the leading causes of abortion within the first four months of pregnancy. Three mares can do the work of two geldings and raise three colts besides, and a well bred draft colt will sell for $100 at weaning time.

The Herdwick Sheep.

A writer in the Shepherd's Journal refers to the Herdwick as England's cast iron sheep. The Herdwicks are famed for their mutton and thick, soft fleeces. They stand the hardships and exposures of an inclement climate better than most other breeds.

LEADS GREATEST OF BANDS

Scousa, Who Joined Marines When Small Boy, Now Back in the Service.

Great Lakes, Ill.—One warm June afternoon in 1898, a small boy strode into Washington barracks and announced to the Marine recruiting officer that he wished to join the service.

"I'm going to try my best to be a drummer boy or else a bugle boy," he announced. "I'll work hard to make good."

He did "make good."

That boy was John Phillip Sousa, and today his enlistment papers are treasured in the archives of the Marine Corps.

As the years passed John Phillip Sousa gained promotion until finally he was director of the band.

It was not so many years ago that Sousa, master musician, made a triumphal tour of the world, playing his famous marches in all the royal courts of the world. Everywhere he was feted and hailed as the world's greatest march king.

The years passed and Sousa retired from active association with the Marine band, which he had developed into the greatest military band in the world.

When this country was plunged into war Sousa, now past middle age, was eager to do something for his service.

Capt. William A. Moffett, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training station, Great Lakes, Ill., wished to have the station bluejacket band developed into the greatest in the navy. Sousa was enrolled as a lieutenant, and musicians throughout the United States made Great Lakes their mecca.

Today this band is the largest organization of its kind in the world. And Sousa modestly believes that leadership of the great band of American sailor boys is as magnificent as anything else in his career.

BIGGEST JOB ON RECORD

Army Cantonments Cost $150,000,000—Immense Amount of Material Used.

Washington.—The completion of the sixteen cantonments for the National army is one of the greatest construction jobs ever undertaken by any government, and within three months the government has expended approximately $150,000,000 upon this work, whereas the largest amount appropriated in any one year for the Panama canal was $16,000,000.

Within sixty days 190 sawmills in all parts of the country shipped more than 500,000,000 feet of lumber to the cantonment sites. Altogether 93,000 kegs of nails were used; there were installed 140,000 doors and 686,000 sash, while nearly 30,000,000 square feet of wall board was used for inside sheathing.

When paved streets, telephones, fire protection, electric lights, water supply and sewage disposal are added to this undertaking, some idea may be had as to the wonderful piece of work done in record-breaking time in providing comfortable quarters for the National army.

TO FEED CAPTIVE AMERICANS

Those Taken Prisoners of War Will Not Have to Depend on Rations Furnished by Germany.

Washington.—American prisoners of war in Germany will be furnished enough food for their subsisted independently of rations provided them by the Germans.

The American Red Cross, through arrangements with the British General Prisoners of War Committee, is doing this for the American prisoners in Germany, of whom there are now 101, and a committee of the American Red Cross has been established at Berne, Switzerland, to do this work in the future. This committee will work directly under the American Red Cross and will take over all the work of provisioning American soldiers and sailors who may be held in Germany.

HOW UNCLE SAM TRAINS FLYERS

SOME TESTS OF SKILL SHOWN

Men Go Up About Half Mile, Then "Slide" Down at Sharp Angle—And, Say, This Is No Job for Nervous Man.

Mineola, L. I.—While hundreds of thousands of men in America are learning how to jab bayonets through German soldiers in a leisurely manner, some of the most promising embryo officers of the American forces are here learning how to destroy Boche birdmen. To judge by their training, they will do the job both efficiently and quickly.

Under the direct supervision of Bert Acosta, one of America's most successful civilian aviators, scores of candidates for commissions in the aviation section of the Army Signal corps are being taught to extricate themselves from the most dangerous positions imaginable while several thousand feet from the ground.

For military reasons it is forbidden for details of the fighting instruction for aviators to be made public. Here however, is an illustration of the dangerous situations the aviators are being put through:

While about two thousand feet above ground, with the machine going nearly straight up, let her quietly slip backward and downward, tail first, for 75 or 100 feet, then get the machine under control again, go up still higher, and try it once more.

It's quite easy—that is, it is easy to watch Bert Acosta or Edward Holtermann, his first assistant, pull it off. All you have to do is to let the machine drop backward and downward until you feel that you have gone far enough, then pick up speed and make her go upward again. Simple!

Another simple little test of your skill as an aviator is to ride up 2,000 or 3,000 feet, then come down in a spiral, with the wings of the machine almost vertical. Acosta recommends this for nervous persons.

Notwithstanding the apparent recklessness of the flyers, each "stunt" is carried out in an absolutely scientific manner. Instead of courting danger for "the fun of it" the aerial movements are carefully planned with the factor of safety always being among the first things considered. Nothing is undertaken for exhibition purposes except to demonstrate how to escape death over the battlefield.

To fly around putting the machine at all kinds of angles and going through all the manipulations may appear silly and dangerous, Acosta said. "As a matter of fact, it is the only safe thing to do when you are above an enemy's battlefield.

Infantry officers in our training camps are telling their men that ignorance courts death, in a battle with bayonets. In the aviation service ignorance is certain death."

High in the ranks of the men seeking commissions in the aviation corps stands Capt. Cushman A. Rice, veteran of half a dozen wars on the American continent and a former member of the general staffs of three brigadier generals of the American army.

Captain Rice, "The Cuban Millionaire," made a fortune in Cuba following his resignation as a captain of infantry in the Old Firm Will Make A Change.

The directors of the well known firm of J. M. Robinson--Norton Company, Louisville have announced that a change will have to be made in the company. The directors will hold a meeting Nov. 19, and consider whether they will reorganize or dissolve the company the reason given is because of the advanced age of the principal stock holders.

The Company's capital is a million dollars and has a surplus nearly equal to the capital. It is thought that maybe some of the younger men in the company will try to raise a syndicate to take over the business.
